a serious loss to the National Democracy and a most unexpected and alarming accession to the firm of Crausock, Caldwell, & Co. The Hon. J. S. Golladay announces himself against "the new departure failure." This pains us. Why did Mr. Golladay to this thing, and, having heroically resolved to do it, why did he delay it until the "new departure" failed? If it is a "failure why persist in attacking it: But it is not a failure, and the course of Mr. Golladay should only urge the genuine Democracy to work the harder. With Craddock at Frankfort, and Caldwell in Louisville, and Golladay in the Green River country, our prospect will be lick is the worst of all. It moves us.

Let the distinction be clearly marked be-tween such leaders as Judge CRADDOCK and ISAAC CALDWESS, who are seeking to and feace Caldwell, who are seeking to organize the party by a local foot-rule, and the rank and file of the Democratic party, who are not organized at all, nor committed to any line of policy. The Democratic party of Kentucky has not yet defined its position with respect to the amendments. The Executive Committee at Frankfort, headed by Judge Craddock, and a part of the Executive Committee in Louisville, led by Isaac Caldwell, seek to commit it to the Toombs-Stephens programme. We, the Toombs-Stephens programme. We, representing the National Democracy, seek to commit it to the policy which is being everywhere adopted as fast as Democratic conventions assemble and which will be adopted in the National Democratic Convention. The question must be con-sidered from these two stand-points and disposed of according to the wisdom of the people.

South, after more than six years of reconstruction, and of such peace as the kind of reconstruction that section has suffered under would naturally produce, still continue to be gross outrage upon the people, arbitrary, licentious, un-scrupulous, and in almost every way ut-terly unworthy of the civilization of the age, and even of the bastard type of "prog-ress" of which the Radical leaders are the especial exponents and advocates. Their history is a series of contradictions of the favorite Radical boast of equal suffrage and favorise Radical boast of equal suffrage and equal rights and equality before the law. Almost every page of the dark record is stamped in everlasting letters with the story of the hypocrisy and greed and tyranny of the Radicals who have been smuggled or forced into the mastery of the reins of authority in the South; of the compulsory submission of the Southern people to before unheard-of wrongs, and of the boundless credulity that has all along pervaded the great body of the people of the North. Senator Morrox mouths about a "free and happy people," and "the equality of all men;" but while he knows, in his heart, that his words apply only to men who belong to his party, and aid and support it in all its wicked acherics and its wrongs upon liberty and reason, its lust of power and its bitter sectional hate—yet his claquers throughout reason, its tust to power aim its office ac-tional hate-yet his claquers throughout the country applaud to the echo, and there are doubless very many good people in the North who swallow such stuff with a relish, taking it all for gospel truth. These are people—and there are legions of them— who hear only one side of a question— who listen but don't look, and therefore don't see existing evils which give the lie to the gushing sentiments, the catch words, the ad captandam phrases which form the chief stock in trade of the Radical press the ad constant phrases which form the chief stock in trade of the Radical press and orators.

The truth is that, since the war, the fondiness of the Radicals for the use of the fondiness of the Radicals for the use of the bayonet, amounting to mania, has well mich ruined the country. That instrument served them a good furn once, and like genuine quacks they immediately began to presently it is the simple history of an illt. In the present the body politic it is their favoritie nostrum—their king of all presents the public stomach, and the pill has to be sugar-coated with all the rhetorical phrases and flourishes their presents of the Commune.

Here was an op-cortunity to administer the favorite Radical ain a view of the law against any opinion it might suit Governor Daws to express?
What would become of the dignity and authority of the head of the State if such authority of the head of the State it such things were allowed? And worse than all, where would the profit of his patronage go if the courts were permitted to interfere with his little game? It would never do. The Federal soldiers were conveniently at band. But it seems that the court did not see But it seems that the court did not see the affair exactly through the Governor's "specs." It was not disposed to submit tamely to such usurpation. So the other day the Judge took another turn on the Executive. When the health officer undertook to exercise his functions in discretized in disregard of the order of the court, he was quietly fined a hundred dollars. Refusing to pay the fine, the court took possession of his sacred person as security for the amount. The astonishment and indignation of the Governor at this new turn in the affair takes the usual direction—towards the bayonet. He is furious, but there is a military method in his madness. The court, without going out of its proper sphere or stepping aside from strictly legal forms and usages, evidently "has him on the hip," and he pauses not to reckon the cost, but gathery his forces and breathes martial law and his forces and breathes martial law and vengeance on his obstinate adversaries. In no other way can the wants and demands of the masses be fully met and satisfied. The rich must make the welfare of the poor a leading object of their regard. Pat. Doniphan was up before the City Court yesterday, arrested at the instance of his wife, for removing the household goods and leaving her and child unprovided for. The testimony elicited went to show that Mr. Doniphan was a strictly solen, hard-working man, while his wife was constantly getting drunk. Pat., finding it impossible to live in peace with his wife, proposed a mutual separation, and a division of the property. Not being able to divide the child, the possession of which both claimed, they could not agree. Pat. abandmed his wife, and took up his abode in other quarters, taking away with him a portion of the property, and for this his wife had him brought up before the Court. Pat. was

The People Delighted.
The above caption refers to Old John Robinson's monster three-tent show, which exhibits to-day for the last time in our city—afternoon and night. There never was such an ovation tendered to any showman in Louisville as was accorded to the old veteran iast light. From pit to dome, the mammoth pavillions were crowded with a happy, joyous throng of humanity—all pleased and enthusiastic in pronouncing Old John and his big show the peer of them all. It will be many a day before the citizens of Louisville witness such an array of talent or such a seelisetion of animated nature as is to be seen shore. There was one noble and commendable feature which we witnessed yesterday, and that was the passing in, free of charge, the members of one of the

the people to extend the patronage that has been and will be seconded to-day and night to the old veteran; and it will be the hardest day's work ever attempted by any show in America to beat the attendance which he has and will

The Coming Circus.

Next week the renowned New York Circus, the most complete exhibition of the marvels of athletic skill and grace in the world, will again deletic skill and grace in the world, will again de-light our citizens. Director Lent is a manager who pever resorts to the peratelous system of advertising attractions not really in his posses-sion, but, on the contrary, the performances in his incomparable circus are invariably as good as they are announced to be in the publications ac complementally displayed in this city. Wednes-day next is the opening day.

The game between the Kentuckys and Keitfords resterday afternoon resulted in a victory for the Kentuckys by a score of 28 to 18—seven innings being played. Owing to the recent rain the "Old Eclipse" grounds were not in a fit condition to play on, and the game was played on the soldiers' grounds at Taylor Barracka, Sergeant Korthwood, Captain of the Liberty Club, kindly tendering their use to the players. The Eckford Club is compact of boys from the upper portion of city, and they handle a ball in fine sigle. Indeed, their general field play resterday afternoon excelled that of the Kentucky's, fewer excreas being made by them than by the latier. The victory of the Kentuckys was, to a great extent, due to the effective pitching of Durning, and their batting. Below we give the score by
